September Update

I was informed recently that the Yacht Club is open once again for homeowners' meetings; therefore, our next meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 4, 2020, 7:00 P.M. That meeting will be packed with information helpful to us all.

1. Most recent info on our flood protection, charts, film, vip's
2. Jake Airey, our council rep, with latest on our street repair and other requests
3. Magnolia Water Company with complete explanation for what is happening throughout our neighborhood, future plans, and remedies
4. Information about attaining homeowners insurance with companies other than the major players

Write your questions about each subject. Ask them at the meeting.

Last weekend the first MICOI News and Reports Journal was delivered. I'd like some feedback (positive or negative), and suggestions. If anyone would like to work on a committee to produce something for January, please let us know. The hope is reaching those who live in our area will see the value of this place, take care of it, and encourage others to participate. Thank you to the ladies who helped stamp the journals. Thank you to those who contributed the articles. Thank you to those who sponsored the journal with advertisements.

The Magnolia Water Company reps from St. Louis, Mo. came to my home yesterday to discuss the problems we are having with their takeover of Coast, the previous water company that provided services to our community. The meeting, which lasted over two hours, covered billing, sewer problems, explanations concerning water quality, meters, and repairs. We visited areas under repair presently. Did you know there are 40 homes with problems under repair now? Why repairs are taking time was explained. The same Magnolia reps will come to our homeowners' meeting Nov. 4. You can ask questions then.
